DECORATION DAY

The members of the Ocala Grand Army post, with a number of their friends, convened in the old cemetery yesterday morning to strew the graves of their fallen comrades with flowers and do the same service over the graves of their Confederate opponents in the war of 1861-5. Commander T. J. Owens read impressively the beautiful G. A. R. decorating ceremony from the ritual of the order, followed by Adjutant Bumby reading of the general order of the commander of the G. A. R. especially applicable to the ceremonies of the day, followed by L. F. Ballard, who read President Lincoln's famous and immortal speech, which he delivered in dedicating the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, in November, 1863.

Rev. W. H. Coleman, pastor of the Christian church, was then introduced as the orator of the day and made a magnificent address in every way appropriate to the day and its sacred and inspiring memories. The reverend gentleman had no manuscript, and only a few head notes dotted on an envelope, yet spoke so connectedly, logically and timely as though every word he uttered had been in print before his eyes. It was an admirable oration and spoken so eloquently that it touched all hearts.

By special request C. L. Bittinger was called on for an address, but as Mr. Coleman had covered the ground so satisfactorily, in lieu of a "talk" he read an intensely interesting and stirring account of Dr. Rand, of Batavia, New York, who was the first man to enlist in the war for the union April 15, 1861, and who for valorous service in the war was voted by congress the first medal of honor ever struck by the United States for fidelity to duty and brave and heroic service under the stars and stripes and to whom congress has allotted a burial spot in the Arlington National Cemetery when his career on earth is ended.

After the speakers had received a vote of thanks from the post, tendered through the commander of the post, the following graves were marked with a small union flag and decorated with flowers: B. N. Redding, Mr. Ensign, E. S. Yates, of Co. H., 62d Reg., Illinois Vols., Kenna Halsey, S. A. Hawkins, Capt. R. R. Teller, A. J. McScholer, Co. B, 1st U. S. Cav., L. Reifenberg, Captain Wasson, Pinkerton and T. W. Wood. Among the Confederate graves decorated were Colonels S. M. G. Gary and Edwin Badger, Dr. Gary, Capt. S. D. McConnell and Private John F. Dunn, which ended the exercises. If there were other graves their occupants' names were not known.

It is very evident the number of members of the Ocala G. A. R. post is yearly growing fewer and it will not be many years ere there will be none to respond to the roll call.

RECOMMENDING TEACHERS

The trustees of the Ocala sub-school district, Messrs. W. S. Bullock, J. M. Barco and C. L. Bittinger, met yesterday afternoon in Judge W. S. Bullock's office to consider applications of those desiring to teach in Howard Academy.

Before going into the matter of recommending names for the positions, Chairman Bullock called on those present, patrons and friends of the school, to make known their preferences and to enter any objections against any of the corps of old teachers, all of whom had applied for reappointment.

Mr. H. W. Chandler said he had no grievances against any of the old teachers and none against Principal Hartwell, unless he could be satisfied that his place could be filled with a better and more competent educator, and he had no name to offer in opposition to Professor Hartwell.

Those who did oppose Professor Hartwell were F. P. Gadsen, J. S. LaRoche, Dr. D. H. Brown and William Ruth. Gadsen and LaRoche had nothing to say against Hartwell's moral character, but thought a more competent principal could be secured and one that would more fully represent the colored element of Ocala, as he did not affiliate with his race socially and in a manner to inspire and stimulate his people along lines conducive to the promotion of their best material and race conditions.

Dr. Brown's opposition to Hartwell was because he did not think he was progressive enough along educational lines. He noticed that only two educational journals were taken among the eight teachers of Howard Academy and he thought this was a poor showing and he deemed Hartwell responsible for this state of affairs.

All agreed that Professor Hartwell was a strictly moral man. In their opposition they presented the name of no one to take Hartwell's place.

The board then went into executive session and recommended the following teachers, because of their general approval by the patrons, to the county board of public instruction as instructors in Howard Academy: Principal, B. F. Hartwell; assistants, Chas. H. Stewart, Arnica E. Murray, Annie M. Chandler, Ida J. Richardson, Mary McClellan, Rosa Leo Welters and A. A. Jones.

The other applicants were Lincolnia C. Haynes and Alice L. Michael, but as all the positions were filled their applications had to be declined.

The board then adjourned to meet this afternoon to consider applicants for teachers in the Ocala Graded High School.
